PETITION FOR EXCEPTION TO THE “RULE OF THREE”

Weinberg College requires students to complete one major. Our policy is that the total number of majors plus minors may not be more than three; this is called the Rule of Three.

Occasionally a student may wish to pursue a fourth program (major or minor). Exceptions to this limit are only by permission from the Weinberg Advising Office and cannot be granted to first-year students. In such cases, students must review their plan with their Weinberg College and then formally make the proposal in this petition.

Exceptions to the Rule of Three are granted when the fourth program can reasonably be completed within the student’s overall academic plan.

Please complete the section of the form listing what courses, if any, you have already completed in the proposed program. If there are any scheduling or time constraints that may impact your ability to complete the fourth program, please explain how you plan to deal with those issues. Attach to this form a declaration of major or minor form for the proposed program, signed by the department. Submit this completed form and the major/minor declaration to wcas-forms@northwestern.edu.
